

Our Human Capital Pillars

Intentional Inclusion

Our workplace policies, talent development programs and employee benefits all focus on ensuring that our team understands what success looks like and that each and every employee has a fair shot at achieving their potential. It is important that every member of our team feels valued, heard and respected, because it is through the experiences, perspectives and opinions that each of us bring to our team that we can best provide exceptional service and deliver innovative solutions. Teams that feel valued, heard and respected make decisions that keep one another safe, make us more efficient and foster creativity.

We are deeply committed to our Values – the foundational behaviors that continue to guide how we work as a team, make decisions and take actions. Intentional Inclusion is one of those core values and it, along with our other Values, will continue to be reflected in all the ways that we lead, engage and perform. At Southern Company, we strive to create a work environment rooted in our Values where each individual feels valued and included, we respect each other's differences and we're all able to pull together in the same direction. That's how we support one another while we continue to deliver clean, safe, reliable and affordable energy for our customers and communities.

Our Human Capital Pillars

Workforce Sustainability

We are meeting the evolving needs of the energy industry by developing a qualified, diverse and sustainable workforce to support community growth and inclusive economic development. We focus on having the right people with the right skills who perform their jobs safely to meet current and future business requirements. This focus is exemplified through Our Values, including Safety First, and our Code of Ethics. We strive to uphold our values, ethics and human capital beliefs in all we do and remain cognizant of what they mean to our workforce's culture and well-being. We continue to value productive collaboration with labor unions, skills training for our employees and targeted community and education partnerships. These efforts benefit the communities we serve and help provide sustainable jobs.

- ▶ Safety First: Safety First is our No. 1 value, and our goal is to complete "every day, every job, safely". We demonstrate Safety First by focusing on safety risk mitigation, meeting and exceeding applicable laws and regulations, and investing in research and cutting-edge safety technologies and processes. We hone and build on our safety culture by engaging all employees in our solutions, continuing to share and build on learnings, and contributing to continuous process improvements to enhance safety.
- ▶ Labor Relations: Constructive coordination with union leaders is critical to our business. Approximately one-third of Southern Company employees are International Brotherhood of Electric Workers (IBEW) members, and many of our contractors employ labor union members from nearly every craft within the North Americas Building Trades Unions (NABTU). Our coordination with organized labor allows us to work toward common goals on topics such as employee and public safety, reliability of our electric and gas systems, training and development, recruitment efforts, just transition and best practice sharing.
- ▶ Community Partnerships: Southern Company's focus on education and workforce development spans from early childhood literacy initiatives to graduate degree programs. We believe that to develop the workforce's next generation, we must have a proactive and holistic approach with an emphasis on foundational education and experiential learning. Some of our partnerships include:
 - Educational partnerships, Pre-K through High School, that focus on support of Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM)
 - Partnerships with local technical and community colleges to establish programs and curriculum for career-ready certifications (such as Line Worker, Instrumentation and Control Technicians)
 - Hosting of summer camps and interactive programs where students interact with our employees and learn about the science of energy, engineering, and career opportunities
 - Teacher externships to support educators in understanding workforce skills and the operations of business and industry
 - Support of internship and work-based learning programs ensuring students receive hands-on education

Community

Our employees are inextricably woven into the communities we are privileged to serve. In 2024, retirees and employees across our subsidiaries dedicated approximately 170,000 hours of volunteer service to support and improve our communities. Our employees also make financial contributions to thousands of non-profits in our communities through company-led programs, such as the Club of Hearts with Georgia-based employees annually contributing around $1 million. In 2024, our system's charitable giving totaled over $85 million in grants, sponsorships and impact investments across our territories. We also form partnerships with businesses, academic and other STEM institutions, charities and government bodies. The Southern Company system and its charitable foundations weave together financial grants, philanthropic programs, community board leadership and employee volunteerism to create positive momentum for our communities.
